Marie Rose Moro - Professor of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry, University of Paris Descartes, Head of La Maison de Solenn.

It helps so much to be reconciled with oneself!

« When adolescents are affected in their bodies, in their very beings, in their lives, and in their desires everything possible has to be done to reanimate them, so that they want to live, eat, have fun, go to school...the work done by the CEW participates in this actively and in a precious way. Just look at the pleasure the adolescents, even when very ill, show when they go to the beauty care centres and their radiant faces when they come out again and talk about what they have done with their carers, their doctors or the other adolescents at the Maison de Solenn. It's a pleasure that is renewed as often as possible during their hospitalisation, a pleasure that helps to reinforce their self esteem, their wish to please themselves and even to please others. Working on what they perceive in themselves, on the image they reflect to others, what they let others see, allows them to become reconciled and find how to reach out to others. It is mainly girls who come to this workshop but sometimes the boys too. They benefit in the same way, that is with an awareness and care for themselves which is in turn transferred to others, that feels good and calms, and heals the different wounds that are so painful during adolescence. After their hospitalization the adolescents tell us how important these little moments of shared happiness have been in helping them to reconcile with life. Thank you! »

All beauty care sessions, though only patient and Beautician together , are called "workshop"
